France Pledges Support In Campaign On Depression

CONFERENCE OF LEADERS NEARING END

Roosevelt, McDonald and Herriot To Exchange Views At Dinner Table

FRENCH IN AGREEMENT

Will Not Offer Protest To Bi-metal Standard As Offered By Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(UP)—The Anglo-American economic conversations neared an end today while the French representatives, settling down to more active participation, pledged support in a combined offensive against the depression.

President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of Great Britain conferred with their economic experts at the White House. It was their fourth day of exchanging ideas and plans for world economic recovery.

French and American experts on financial and economic questions conferred at the state department while Former Premier Herriot of France prepared for tonight's three cornered conversation, the first meeting of Mr. Roosevelt, Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Herriot.

The British decision not to make provision for war debt payments to the United States was received for interest here although no official comment was available.

Mr. MacDonald began his fourth day of the discussions by breakfasting with senate majority leader Robinson.

As a luncheon guest of Secretary of State Hull, Mr. Herriot had another opportunity to meet Mr. MacDonald and Prime Minister Bennett of Canada. The White House dinner tonight, however, will be the first meeting of Mr. Roosevelt and the British and French statesmen.

As the French experts progressed in their conversations with the American technicians it became evident France would not offer much opposition to the American proposal of establishing a bi-metal monetary standard.

There has been a suggestion that the minimum legal gold coverage of the principal currencies be reduced by five per cent and that amount of silver added to the monetary reserves. In France alone such a change would oblige the

MRS. McLEAN WILL SELL HOPE DIAMOND

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(UP)—Mrs. Evelyn Walsh McLean revealed today that she is pawning the famous Hope diamond, which has been reputed through the years to bring tragedy to all who possess it.

Mrs. McLean said she had asked for an appraisal on the famous stone after she had been unsuccessful in efforts to raise money on her extensive real estate holdings.

Mrs. McLean was in Baltimore, where her 14-year-old son was operated on yesterday for appendicitis.

She said she hoped to obtain $250,000 from the 41-2 carat diamond and other jewels, in order to save the Washington Post for her children.

TEACHERS PLAN RIOTOUS MARCH IN WINDY CITY

Demonstration Planned Wednesday; Officers To Be Called Out

CHICAGO, April 25.—(UP)—Rebellious forces of Chicago's unpaid school teachers, emboldened by a riotous march upon five major banks, today planned a greater demonstration in the financial district. John Fewkes, who marshalled teachers for yesterday's unprecedented protests against unpaid salaries, said the next demonstration would be held tomorrow.

Bankers, officials in city and state offices and some instructors themselves were seriously concerned over the increasingly frequent protest parades. Police authorities, who dispatched 200 patrolmen to the LaSalle street district where 5000 teachers marched upon banks yesterday, said that additional officers would be called out in the event of another parade.

"Bring your chairs and lounges the next time," leaders of the angry instructors urged. "We'll camp right here until we get our pay."

Bank presidents and officials, including Charles G. Dawes of the City National bank, former vice president, who were heckled and booed by instructors who forced their way into bank lobbies demanding that banks purchase more tax anticipation warrants, said they would offer "every possible cooperation" to city and state authorities in efforts to dispose of the warrants. Teachers last were paid 10 days ago and their back salaries aggregate $29,000,000.

Banners, slogans, bright signs and a wearied expression on many faces gave bankers a vivid picture of privation in teachers' homes. When Dawes emerged from his private office to confer with the shouting instructors his words were drowned out by hisses and howls.

The trip official waved a clenched fist and shouted "to hell with the trouble-makers" before resuming his remarks. He said he favored Mayor Edward Kelly's plan for issuance of additional warrants.

WINNIE RUTH JUDD TAKES UP NEW LIFE

PHOENIX, Ariz., April 25.—(UP)—Winnie Ruth Judd today began the routine life of an inmate of the Arizona state hospital for insane.

The "blonde murderess," saved from the gallows when a jury found her insane last Saturday night, was refreshed and smiling after a long night of quiet sleep. Attendants reported her demeanor was less wild and hysterical.

Mrs. Judd, who admittedly killed Agnes Ann Lerol and Hedvig Samuelson, her close friends and fellow-nurses, had been assigned to a neat, attractive room in ward D.

With the slender 28-year-old murderess were Angel, a black cat, and her two small kittens.

TENNESSEE VALLEY PROGRAM IS PASSED IN HOUSE TODAY

BRITISH OMIT WAR DEBTS IN ANNUAL BUDGET

Chamberlain Expresses Confidence Revision Soon Will Be Made

LONDON, April 25.—(UP)—No provision for paying war debts to the United States are made in the current budget, Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, told the house of commons today.

Explaining the omission, Chamberlain said "it must be obvious" that no figures on war debts "can be considered final," indicating Britain's confidence in a coming revision.

Chamberlain said if it had not been for the December 15 war debt payment of $95,550,000 which Britain met, there would have been a deficit for 1932-33 of only 3,300,000 pounds ($12,705,000) with the pound at $3.85 instead of $2,000,000 pounds ($123,200,000) as at present.

He continued reciting the past year's figures in a monotone, with a habitual professional gesture of stroking his chin.

The Lausanne agreement, Chamberlain said, suspended certain reparations and war debts due to Britain.

Under Suspension

"They are at present in suspense," he said. "Sooner or later a final settlement will be set which will determine their distribution as well as that of our debt to the United States."

In making no provision for war debt payments to the United States, Chamberlain also is not budgeting for any war debt or reparations receipts.

Loud cries of "Hear, Hear!" greeted the war debt announcement.

Chamberlain praised the exchange equalization fund of 150,000,000 pounds which had been set aside to prevent a too rapid rise of the pound after Britain abandoned the gold standard.

Consultative Pact May Be Signed by U. S.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(UP)—Indications that the United States might sign a consultative pact to increase world security and thus stimulate international business were given today by Secretary of State Hull, although he avoided a positive commitment.

Asked if the United States has promised to sign such a pact, Hull said that as a matter of general policy consultation under the Kellogg pact had been endorsed in both the Democratic and Republican platforms last summer.

FIRST LADY OF LAND ATTENDS LABOR HEARING

Mrs. Roosevelt And Daughter Of British Premier Visit Committee

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(UP)—The participation of women in American government reached a new high point of prominence today when the wife of the president attended a congressional hearing at which the first American woman cabinet member explained one of the most revolutionary of the measures presented to combat the depression.

Mrs. Isabel MacDonald, daughter of the British prime minister and also vitally interested in problems of government, accompanied Mrs. Roosevelt to the hearing.

The measure under discussion was the short work-week bill, which would give the secretary of labor, Frances Perkins, large powers over industry.

It was the first time the wife of a president ever has attended a congressional hearing.

It was Miss MacDonald's first experience with an American legislative committee at work.

The presence of the three women had added significance in that Prime Minister MacDonald broke British precedent by selecting a woman as labor minister in his first cabinet. In much the same way President Roosevelt set a

PROGRESSIVES AGREE TO BACK INFLATION BILL

Conservative Republicans Seek Support For Silver Certificate Issue

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(UP)—The Roosevelt program for development of the Tennessee valley with its Muscle Shoals plant, was swept to House passage by a huge majority vote of approval today.

The bill with its provisions for government ownership and operation of Muscle Shoals, now goes to a friendly senate, which in the past has twice approved similar bills only to have them meet presidential vetoes.

According to terms of the House draft, a $50,000,000 federal bond issue coupled with a $10,000,000 direct appropriation would provide a newly created "Tennessee valley authority" with funds to begin planned development of the rich southern area.

Two new power dams would be constructed immediately by the government, one at Cove creek, the other the so-called "Dam Number Three." Power from these dams as well as from the existing $150,000,000 plant would be sold direct by the government over its own transmission lines for a distance of 400 miles from the shoals.

The cheap power, expected to draw new industry to the region, would be matched by cheap nitrates for fertilizer produced by the existing plants, either by a privately owned limited dividend corporation or by the government "authority."

In addition, plans are contemplated for flood control, afforestation and navigation improvements, all leading to definite development of the region and improved employment conditions.

It is understood to be the administration intention to apply similar methods to other undeveloped areas, providing the Tennessee valley experiment proves successful.

Sale of power and other revenue is expected to more than repay the federal investment.

ADMIRAL STANDLEY NAMED NAVY CHIEF

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(UP)—Vice Admiral William H. Standley, California who has served in the navy since the Spanish-American war, is the Roosevelt administration's selection for chief of naval operations, the highest post in the service.

Admiral Standley will succeed Admiral William C. Pratt, who has passed the retirement age of 64. Secretary of Navy Swanson announced, however, that Pratt would continue in the post "until some definite action is taken at the disarmament conference in Geneva."

He has had an important part in framing American naval policy at the conference.

Pending Pratt's retirement, Standley will succeed Admiral Luke McNamee as commander of the battle force. Standley is now commander of cruisers in the scouting force.

ROOSEVELT FINDS CHILD FOR MOTHER

ATHENS, Ga., April 25.—(UP)—Nobun Chandler, 15, whose disappearance interested President Roosevelt after the boy's mother appealed for aid, was with his family again today, returned home through the efforts of the U. S. bureau of investigation.

Mr. Roosevelt ordered the federal agency to search for the lad, who disappeared April 4. Young Chandler was found at the kitchen of the Atlanta relief center.

The boy said he left home because he had been accused unjustly of taking a pencil in school.

PRESS IS TOLD C. C. JULIAN TO STAY IN CHINA

Fugitive Oil Magnate Says He'll Not Return Home Until He's Ready

(Copyright, 1933, by United Press)

SHANGHAI, April 25.—(UP)—C. C. Julian, American oil promoter wanted in Oklahoma City for a trial on a mail fraud charge, intends to remain in China until he recoups his fortune, he told the United Press today.

He is determined to fight extradition "to the utmost," having been advised by his attorney that it would be impossible to force his return to the United States.

Between sips of milk which he drank to help rebuild a system temporarily upset by rounds of social engagements, he told the story of his flight to Shanghai.

"I've expected this disclosure every day since I landed here March 23," he said, "and I'm glad it's over."

"I am determined to fight extradition. My attorney assures me it will be impossible to force my return to the United States. That's the reason I came to Shanghai."

"This is a mighty fine place and I intend to remain, earn some kind of business and recoup my fortunes, eventually returning to the United States to fight charges against me. I've always made money and I can do it again, although I'm penniless now."

"I was prepared to stand trial any time during the past two years, but the government continued delaying my case until influential friends informed me I was being framed and advised me to leave the country."

"From Oklahoma City I proceeded by train to Vancouver, B. C., via Los Angeles, stopping three weeks in Canada. I came here to the Metropole hotel and registered as T. R. King."

"Several persons recognized me in the hotel lobby and some advised that I leave Shanghai. One offered an airplane to carry me into the interior."

HORACE HEAD APPEALS FOR COURT TEST

City Council, However, Acts To Call Election And Attorney Instructed

REPEAL LAW PASSED

City Fathers Remove Ban On Personal Possession Intoxicating Liquor

DECLARING the Eighteenth amendment of the United States is supreme and that no president, no congress or city council had any right to make laws conflicting with it, Horace Head, prominent attorney and one of the leaders of the Democratic party here, made a dramatic appeal to the city council last night to refuse to call a beer election in Santa Ana, on the grounds that it would be illegal.

His remarks preceded the council's action on a petition containing some 3300 signatures which was presented to that body last week, seeking an election on the question.

The council, however, agreed to call the election declaring that the people should have an opportunity to express their desires in the matter, and instructed City Attorney Clyde Downing to determine when the state of California would hold its election on the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, so that it possible the city could hold its election at the same time and he saved the expense of calling a special election here to determine the beer question.

The council's action was taken after City Clerk Ed Vegely had reported that there were enough signatures on the petition of qualified voters to justify the council calling the election.

Cites Second Ordinance

The consent of the council in agreeing to call the election was immediately preceded by Head's impassioned address.

Charging that even if the council did call an election and the ordinance in question was repealed by the voters, that there was another ordinance on the books which would prohibit the sale of liquor here, he said: "This calling of an election will involve expense of from $1800 to $2000, and when it is repealed there is another ordinance on the books which would still prohibit the sale of beer."

Beer intoxicating

"The eighteenth amendment is supreme and no president, no congress nor city council has any right to pass a law that conflicts with it. It is true that congress has declared that 3.2 per cent beer is not intoxicating. Congress could pass a law saying that black was white but it still would be black and anyone with the sense that God gives geese knows that 3.2 per cent beer is intoxicating."

Referring to the petition which had been presented, Head declared that "this is no business man's petition. You won't find any of the bigger business men on that petition. You won't find any McFadden."

BEVERLY HILLS, April 25.—(To the Editor of The Register.) I don't know whether this going off the gold is official or not, the French have vetoed it. They claim we have no right to go off the gold and leave them high and dry on it. It seems like if you are on the gold every nation in the world is out to get you. They all say "what's the idea of that big bam having gold, say, we will figure out a way to bump him off." But this is a time when you got to be ready for anything. I have got some old Cherokee Indian beads (are wampum) suppose we go off the silver, suppose we go off the paper, well, look where I will be a setting with my wampum.

FARM RECOMMENDATIONS FOR RELIEF OUTLINED AT MEET OF COUNTY BUSINESS MEN

Speaking yesterday at a luncheon of business men of county, Alex Johnson, secretary of the California Farm Bureau Federation outlined the fundamental program of the Farm Bureau. The three principal points of the organization's program of service, he said are: Restoration of crop prices; rural credit relief; and reduction of fixed charges, including taxes, power rates and freight rates.

He declared that after eight years intensive study of the agricultural price situation the American Farm Bureau Federation directors are in a position to cooperate with President Roosevelt in his plans to carry out his pledge for a new deal for agriculture.

The Agricultural Relief bill proposed by Roosevelt, he said, was drafted with the aid of the Farm Bureau and is calculated to restore the pre-war buying power of nine basic agricultural commodities.

Johnson said the "Honest Dollar Measure" is, he believes, a measure of even more far-reaching importance to agriculture in relation to price restoration than the relief bill. The Farm Bureau has spent four years studying the problem of stabilizing the dollar and directors of the American Farm Bureau Federation are convinced that this stabilization is important as a major factor in price restoration.

Because of this belief the Farm Bureau sponsored a bill in Congress which proposed to reduce the gold content of the dollar sufficiently to raise the wholesale commodity price index to the 1921-1923 level.

Lists Buying Power
The buying power of the production dollars of the nation's major crops in February 1933, was as follows, Johnson said: grain, 34 cents; fruit and vegetables, 57 cents; cotton, 44 cents; livestock, 53 cents; dairy, 62 cents, and poultry, 57 cents.

Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, Johnson said, when speaking before the Senate Finance committee, February 20, last, gave as his opinion of the cause of the depression, the lack of balance between gold and production, and recommended that more real money be created by reducing the gold content of the dollar and that prices be stabilized by open market transactions of the Federal Reserve Board to increase or decrease the volume of money in circulation as necessary to hold the general price level steady.

For relief of rural credit Johnson said that the Farm Bureau has secured legislation providing for a debt conciliation commissioner in each county to secure voluntary adjustment of farm debts.

Mortgage Refinancing
Working for passage of a measure recommended by Roosevelt making available $2,000,000,000 for refinancing farm mortgages at not to exceed 4-1/2 percent interest.

Mortgage on foreclosures, unless approved by the court or the mortgagee fails to pay the taxes or interest until the refinancing program becomes effective as national legislation.

Working to prevent forced sale of land at prices which do not represent the true value of the property at the time of the sale, so as to prevent deficiency judgments against those who are losing their property by forced sale.

Local Economy
Johnson said that to aid the rancher in his tax problem on the Farm Bureau is working for economy and efficiency in government activities, including federal, state, county, and school district.

He said: "We are working to amend the county budget act so as to make its provisions more useful to a tax-conscious public."

"We are working with the state legislators for proposals to reduce the tax on common property, which is out of line with all other forms of capital investment and is leading rapidly to confiscation."

"We are supporting measures to eliminate the county road tax and to secure wider use of the state gas tax funds, both for increased county road mileage and for through streets in cities."

"We are working to reduce delinquent tax penalties. We are opposing the consolidation of all elementary schools with high school districts."

H. B. Police Hold Abandoned Auto
HUNTINGTON BEACH, April 25.—A Dodge sedan, in good condition, is in possession of the police department, it having been abandoned on the parking space on the ocean side of Ocean avenue. Two men drove the car to the place where it was parked, asked of a Standard Oil worker, where they could obtain gasoline, and went away and failed to return.

Police found the owner's identification slip had been removed from the auto, but the ownership was traced through the license number. The car had not been reported as stolen. Chief Keller has written the owner, a resident of Los Angeles county, asking that he notify the police as to what disposition he wants to make of his auto.

JOHNSON AND WAYNICK TALK BEFORE CENTER

Members of the La Habra Farm center, meeting in the Lowell Joint school in East Whittier last night, heard talks by Alex Johnson, secretary of the California Farm Bureau Federation; Dr. D. D. Waynick, chairman of the Farm Bureau citrus stabilization committee, and John W. Crill, past president of the Orange County Farm Bureau.

Johnson outlined the four-fold program of the federation, as follows: Restoration of farm commodity prices; rural credit relief; re-establishment and stabilization of the value of the dollar; miscellaneous service. He declared that President Roosevelt's farm relief program of the federation, as meeting of the Federation.

Dr. Waynick said he expected the valencia stabilization agreement would be in effect within a week. Waynick declared that surplus is not entirely a matter of production, as consumption must be considered. He said that Dr. Wellman's report indicated that had a valencia stabilization agreement been in effect last year, growers would have received an additional $3,200,000 for their fruit.

Dr. Waynick declared that because of unemployment conditions, growers cannot hope to get more for their fruit this year than they did last year, even with the stabilization agreement in effect. He said that because in 1931-32, valencia oranges brought an average of $160 per acre. This year it is estimated the average will not be over $90, he said.

J. W. Crill made an appeal for growers to assume their proper responsibility in seeing that the stabilization agreement operates throughout the valencia season. He pointed out that land values and growers' bank credits are based on the ability of growers to get cost of production out of their crops.

Seventy-five were present at the meeting, M. J. Pickering, president, presiding. The new 4-H band, directed by Frank Barrows, of La Habra, presented several numbers.

SCHEDULES FOR OUTBOUND MAIL CHANGED HERE

The new schedule of train departures from the Santa Fe station in Santa Ana will change the arrival and departure of mail from this city, it was learned today.

Persons sending out southbound mail will have until 8:15 p. m. to bring mail to the postoffice instead of 8:30 p. m. as formerly, according to Superintendent of Mails L. F. Harvey.

A clerk will be kept at the postoffice now until 9 o'clock each night and mail can be left for delivery until 8:45 p. m., a half hour later than formerly.

Mail which formerly left Santa Ana for eastern and northern points at 8:30 a. m. will not leave until 9:45 a. m. under the new schedule.

Mail which previously arrived here at 3 p. m. will not arrive until 4:15 p. m. Other arrivals are the same as before, Harvey said.

Air mail schedules have been changed to some extent. The early morning air mail which formerly left here at 5:30 a. m. has been discontinued. The last connection with mail leaving Santa Ana for the airplane which leaves Los Angeles at 7:30 a. m. is now 8:45 p. m. Another plane leaves Los Angeles at 9:15 p. m. The last connection for this mail from Santa Ana is 5:50 p. m.

The new schedule which has been adopted by the Santa Fe company sets the departure of the Navajo train, carrying tourist, chair cars and sleepers, on a 611-4 hour schedule to Chicago.

The Missionary train will route through Phoenix, Arizona, now, instead of by the main line line through Needles. The westbound Navajo will route through Phoenix instead of Needles. The Chief and California Limited will retain the same fast schedules.

ACTION ON RADIO MEASURE HELD UP

O. A. Jacobs, attorney, responsible for the proposed city ordinance regulating radio reception in Santa Ana, appeared before the city council last night and asked that the passing of the ordinance be held up for one week. The permission was granted.

He explained that Franklin G. West, attorney representing several doctors in the city whose electrical instruments were said to have caused much of the interference in local sets, had asked a delay in order to take the matter up with several of his clients.

The council is ready to pass the ordinance and it probably will be passed next Monday night.

Wiley Clanton, 40, of Long Beach, charged with the theft of 1100 feet of irrigation pipe belonging to R. J. Wertz and J. G. Schultz, of Dana Point, pleaded not guilty and demanded a jury trial when he appeared before Justice of the Peace Landell at San Juan Capistrano Monday.

The trial was set for May 8 at 10 a. m. Clanton was arrested by Officers Sam Snodgrass and Walter Duncan of the fruit patrol.

Bud Eisman, 18, of Costa Mesa, arrested by Fruit Patrol Officers Steve Duhart and Fred Swayze, in connection with the theft of a trailer belonging to William Lusk, of Orange, received a 90-day jail sentence when he appeared before Judge A. W. Swayze in Orange yesterday afternoon. Sixty days of the sentence was suspended.

Bertram Pottsberg, 27, of Anaheim, arraigned on a charge of receiving stolen property, will have his preliminary hearing May 2 at 9 a. m. It is alleged that Pottsberg bought the trailer from Eisman and two companions.

Council Notes

Mrs. Clara Lacy of 610 East Fourth street, appeared before the city council yesterday afternoon to protest against the manner in which a vacant lot next to her property was kept. She declared that machinery was stored on it and that it gave the neighborhood a bad appearance. The matter was referred to the police and fire departments. Mrs. Lacy has complained about the property for two years at intervals but it has never been cleaned up satisfactorily to her.

Application of Dr. Elizabeth Tock, who recently took over the laboratory of Dr. Bessie Martell, physician, for permission to conduct her office from 1001 North Broadway, her home, was denied by the city council last night. The city planning commission had previously disapproved the plan.

Police News

Santa Ana police failed to make a single arrest over the week end, it being the quietest two days in several months, they reported.

Ernest DeSota, of 635 Halladay street, was taken into custody by police Sunday morning when he was caught prowling around KREG radio station at Third and Sycamore. He said he "just wanted to play over the radio." After being given a lecture, he was sent home and no charge was filed against him.

Several proposed ordinances which affect the interests of merchants and business men in Santa Ana will come up for discussion at the meeting. It is planned to take votes on the measures to determine the stand of the merchants.

Politically Speaking

BY THOMAS B. MALARKEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 25.—(UP)—Legislative leaders publicly admit the session, so far, has been an abysmal failure. The men who really count are the legislature's severest critics.

The lawmakers convened January 1 faced with two major tasks: 1—wiping out an anticipated $40,000,000 budget; 2—passing an economy budget bill.

At this writing, the budget bill is far from passage and the budget balancing program is in a turmoil. The Riley-Stewart plan was voted down. Nothing bearing semblance of unified support has been advanced in its place.

In the wake of the Riley-Stewart debacle came an alleged budget balancing program advanced by 30 assemblymen. Senate leaders labeled it a "catch-all." This program assumed many things including: passage of gas tax diversion bills; passage of a two percent sales tax; an increase of $1,500,000 in inheritance taxes; approval of a bill diverting $5,000,000 from the state permanent school fund to the general fund—a measure already defeated by the senate.

It was a patch-work program, contingent upon almost impossible eventualities. That it bore names of assembly leaders merely served to indicate the legislature's state of mind.

Legislators agree on the cause of the trouble. Well intentioned though it may be, the legislature is without leadership. The governor could not lead if he would. He has been repudiated so many times that he has withdrawn to "the corner office" in virtual silence. Both houses have potential leaders—Hornblower, Rich, Swing, Cobb, Robinson, Feigenbaum—but nobody will follow them.

One legislator has attended sessions 22 years. "This is the first time we've lacked leadership," he observed. "In the old days I could tell you the outcome of nearly every vote. Now nobody knows until the roll is called."

Probably the most important legislative vote, so far, was the assembly's defeat of the Riley-Stewart tax plan. Few minutes after the roll call, a prominent assemblyman approached a member of the press. "Say," he asked, "what was that vote on, anyway? Was it an amendment or on final passage. Fellow sitting next to me didn't know either." The assemblyman and his colleague had voted on the legislature's most important bill and didn't even know the bill was up for final passage.

Political Gossip
If you want to see a picture of raw mental anguish, call on the governor any night before an execution.

Real reason the legislature insists on recess rather than adjournment is painfully apparent. It's afraid the governor would hold the whip hand at a special session in mid-summer. . . . and he would.

Roland Tognazzini, attorney for the building and loan association is still number 1 man to succeed E. Forrest Mitchell, state insurance commissioner. . . . Anti-capital punishment lobbyists are bearing down hard on the senate. . . . but it will be a modern miracle if the anti-hanging bill gets through the upper house.

Classic examples of official side-stepping were Governor Rolph's replies when questioned about airplane joint to William Randolph Hearst's ranch. . . . fact was, the governor went to Hearst—instead of vice-versa—to learn that gentleman's views on horse racing. . . . this column's prediction of legislative flitfluffs may yet be fulfilled. . . . A fight was barely averted on the assembly floor early one morning.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR SUMMER PLAYGROUNDS

The city council yesterday afternoon discussed plans for continuing the summer playground work in Santa Ana this year, in spite of the fact that money previously donated by the city and the school board will not be forthcoming this year.

Last year the school board and the chamber of commerce supported the summer playgrounds, but both have declared this year that they could not afford to do it.

W. W. Wieman, 722 South Birch street, appeared before the board yesterday and suggested that the city council appoint a playground commission to represent the city in conducting the playgrounds this year. Several names were mentioned but no one was appointed, pending a meeting called by Wieman at the Santa Ana cafe Wednesday night when plans for voluntary service, will be discussed.

It is Wieman's plan to have services donated this year with bicycle clubs formed, to be operated by persons interested in this form of exercise and other forms to be managed by persons who are interested in them. He declared that between 400 and 500 children attended the playgrounds daily last year.

The council probably will take some direct action at its meeting next week, following the Wednesday night meeting.

Court Notes

Hearing on the application was set for May 5. Perez is accused of having robbed the Joseph Dry Goods store at Atwood more than a year ago.

ELIMINATION OF DUAL BANK SYSTEM RECOMMENDED BY BANKER AT FORUM SESSION

Discussing the subject, "Classification of Banks and Their Functions," Homer C. Chaney, of the trust department of the First National bank, was the featured speaker at a meeting of the Santa Ana Forum last night in the Willard school.

The speaker classified the different types of banks, including savings banks, trust companies, commercial banks, state and national banks, federal reserve banks, rural credit or farm loan banks, federal home loan banks and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, explaining the function of each type of bank.

He pointed out the fact that some banks throughout the country have abused the function of their bank in an attempt to make commercial use of savings banks and to combine commercial, savings and trust department functions.

He declared that this abuse consequently makes a conflict of interests through an interlocking of directorates. The depositors, he said, unaware of the different functions, naturally assume that their deposits are payable to them on demand.

"On the other hand," he said, "this same abuse by some banks has been largely responsible for the steady growth of the community and at the same time depositors have demanded advice from bankers on investments, which they have given to the best of their ability."

"Since 1929 banks have liquidated $24,000,000,000 and 90 per cent of the banks have reopened since the bank moratorium."

Chaney explained that deposits in a bank are not money but credit, and yet depositors come into a bank and demand cash. He recommended the elimination of the dual banking system and an absolute separation of functions, as well as the separation of deposits with agreements covering withdrawals. He stated that there should be a limitation on investments covering demand deposits and also a service charge on all demand deposits.

NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

-- News Behind the News

WASHINGTON

By Paul Mallon

INDEPENDENCE

The Roosevelt cabinet was not so strong for inflation as he was. Two of the foremost doubting Thomases were none other than Treasury Secretary Woodin and State Secretary Hull. They said nothing, except to their closest friends, but they were long faces for two days. There was never a moment when they thought of deserting the ship but they did have their doubts about the optimistic hopes of the pilot.

When the decision was made against them they took it like good soldiers.

The reason for their misgivings is they are both conservatives of the old school. Woodin was born in a gold standard cradle. So were his father, grandfather, great-grandfather et al. Hull's political morality has always been based on pure gold, an inch thick.

In their category was Senator Carter Glass. He suppressed himself with great difficulty. He did some of his conservative Democratic colleagues in both houses.

One of the reasons for this was the conservative congressmen were at no time in on the preliminary play for the program.

Mr. Roosevelt did this thing completely alone. Not even his heavy-minded intercollegiate brain trust had a hand, except superficially. He thought it out himself and took the responsibility on himself.

When his friends objected he laughed them out of the window. Apparently he looked on their advice in the same light as a vigorous young man would look on suggestions from elderly ladies—politely but not seriously.

Registration may be made at the O. J. Day and Ostot stores.

Party Arranged By Tustin Group

TUSTIN, April 25.—The third of a series of benefit bridge parties, sponsored by the Tustin American Legion auxiliary, will be held at 7:45 o'clock Thursday evening in the Tustin building. Mrs. Will S. Leinberger, publicity chairman, announced today. Refreshments will be served. Prizes will be awarded for those making special scores on this evening. A grand prize is also to be given. Mrs. Beulah Hamilton is chairman of the ways and means committee, which is in charge of arrangements for the party.

Half the New York bankers came running also. They were not trying to kill the plan so much as to find out what was happening. Their friendly officials in the administration whispered that they need not worry.

That was largely true. The president himself told at least two of his associates confidentially he intended to use but one feature of the plan. That was the first one, his own, the provision for three billion in currency to offset the coming three billion dollar public works bond issue.

The gold revaluation and silver items were just tossed in to get a majority in congress. The whole thing is discretionary. He could use any part or none of it as he chose.

The Republicans and bankers had heard that story before. They did not question the president's authority. They were skeptical that if he once got the authority he would use it, not now perhaps but a few months hence. Mr. Hoover once had an idea he would not use the price stabilization features of the farm bill, but he did.

The bankers bowed out more or less gracefully. The Republicans decided to make a record of opposition anyway, something which could be pointed to in the next election if the thing did not work.

That was good strategy. It performed the patriotic duty of letting the president have his way. It also safeguarded any political advantages which might accrue from failure of the plan.

DOLLARS

The decision for the break in inflation came swiftly backstage. The treasury was authorizing gold withdrawals until the last moment. It was fully embarked on a new policy of pegging the dollar. The larger New York banks were also wedded to that idea. Both began to realize after three permits to Treasury had been issued that the course entailed probably a bigger job than they cared to go through with.

The Morgans were the outstanding leaders for pegging the dollar. Their about-face came as swiftly and as gracefully as the administration's.

It cost the Morgans plenty on their dollar investments.

The federal reserve board pulled the wires which held the government bond market up. Their private purchases of long term governments are figured to keep that market from finding its natural level. The experts confidently expect no trouble from that source. There is no possibility that any issue will get down to 31 which was the low for Liberties after the war.

The depreciation of government's will hurt some larger banks and insurance companies but not as hard as you may think. They all have large holdings in other things which will be benefitted materially. This will more than offset the drop of government paper.

Two Republicans who hated the Roosevelt program most were Under Secretary Ballantine and Assistant Secretary Douglas. They threatened to resign as soon as they heard about it. They learned their treasury morals from the Old Masters, Mellon and Mills.

The Democratic schedule called for them to be booted out anyway in favor of deserving Democrats as soon as things settled down.

NOTES

Putting the inflation bill on the farm bill as an amendment makes it the biggest fall for the littlest dog that you ever saw. Foreign nations received no advance hint whatsoever concerning Mr. Roosevelt's gold embargo. It was really as big a surprise to Mr. Macdonald as it was to you. It was a bigger one for ex-Premier Herriot. They say he wanted to turn the ship around and go home.

Senator Huey Long is maliciously called "The Whispering Baritone" by Senators whose ear drums have been shattered by his raucous voice. Macdonald looks as well as he did three years ago. And talks as glibly. He delivered one of his best international sermons for 15 minutes to newspapermen the day he arrived.

Nobody yawned but nobody took notes either. One of Peck's Bad Newspaper Boys of Washington who has made a national reputation exposing deceptions in the government has joined the Havas (French press) agency to get some of the hundred million francs they are going to spend here for propaganda. You will know shortly.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

EMBARGO

Informed New York attaches special importance to two angles of the gold embargo only one of which has been publicly discussed. First, it spikes Europe's depreciated currency guns neatly and thoroughly. Second, it protests our ample gold reserves against foreign drains. They will come in handy both in preserving a sound domestic currency and in providing a firm foundation for the support of government bonds.

You can still find plenty of Wall Streeters who do not agree with J. P. Morgan that the move was a wise one. Mostly they are the older bankers with large holdings of governments who get scared at the slightest wavering of bond prices. There is a sort of determined pessimism in their attitude which only a blast of T. N. T. will kill or cure. But these men are a shrinking minority.

DISARMAMENT

They are calling Roosevelt the big disarmament man. He is likened to the tenderfoot who calmly grabbed the bad man's six-shooters and told him it was his turn to dance. "If he could disarm armies and navies the way he disarmed Macdonald there wouldn't be any more war."

EUROPE

European squawks about our "bad faith" in abandoning the gold standard are music to New York's ears—even to those who are supposed to be pro-European. A very well known international banker is telling all his friends that the British certainly have a nerve to complain.

CURRENCY

All the talk about a currency depreciation war is rated as bunk by insiders. Britain would have to buy dollars on a tremendous scale to offset natural forces. She hasn't the funds to do it and would be out on a limb if she tried. If we bought sterling at the same time to force the dollar down it would be a different matter. But we won't.

MID-WEST

New York understands that a group of mid-western bankers and business men helped provide the impetus for the embargo and inflation measures. They have been spreading the word in high quarters that there was no time to waste before aggressively attacking the depression. They represented that popular discontent in that section could not be held in check much longer.

BACKFIRE

A large tinplate concern is swearing mad that the embargo came just when it did. They had recently landed an Argentine order for 300,000 British pounds' worth of tinplate. The Argentines stipulated pounds because they thought sterling was due for a drop. The order was cancelled the minute the embargo was declared.

The embargo also placed Colombia in an awkward spot. That country had placed a $3,000,000 order for airplanes in France to help along her informal war with Peru. The Colombian treasury is not in such hot condition but by scrapping the pot they had raked up just enough dollar exchange to cover the transaction. Now they can't find enough additional dollars to make up the exchange difference and it's a bet they will have to do without the planes.

SPECULATION

Informed local opinion believes that the source of dollar exchange will be decided by a contrast between two groups of European speculators—those who are selling the dollar and those who are buying our equities. Those who buy stocks are expected to carry the decision. The balance of trade is heavily in our favor and restoration of the dollar to par is regarded as largely a question of time.

PROFIT

The U. S. post office is still selling pounds at $3.50—for deposit only—which enabled one New Yorker to work out an ingenious stunt. He bought the pounds here, cabled the deposits to London, and then withdrew them at the rate of $3.80. The post office has a $100 limit on such transactions. He got around that by keeping a chain of messengers running to the post office all day.

PROGRAM IS ENJOYED BY MEMBERS OF WOMAN'S CLUB, PROLOGUE, PLAY PRESENTED

ORANGE, April 25.—A program marked by originality and lovely costuming was presented at a meeting of the club yesterday. Mrs. J. E. Vlau, chairman of the program committee, wrote the words for a clever play and prologue and the music for the songs was written by Mrs. Christine Lambert. Mrs. Hazel Summers was the other member of the committee. Stage decorations were planned by Mrs. George Seba. The play opened with a prologue and taking part in this were Mrs. Vlau, who played the pivotal character of an old maid in search of a husband; Mrs. Johnnie Harma Jr., the charming young girl, and by Mrs. Palmer, her lover. The choruses were sung by Mrs. C. A. Palmer, Mrs. Samuel Hart, Mrs. V. A. Wood and Mrs. Julia Miller who stood behind a transparent screen at the back of the stage.

The chorus was costumed in beach pajamas and each member carried a dainty parasol in varied colors. The chorus included Mesdames C. D. V. Rotherberg, M. L. Reed, William Payne, Kenneth King, C. O. McInnes, Mrs. Rose Harlan, Mrs. H. A. Brown, Mrs. C. E. Lush and Mrs. Marsh Adams. The first meeting of the group will be held in the home of Mrs. A. H. Heim May 5. The GOLD STANDARD of Tire Values

THE MASTERPIECE OF TIRE CONSTRUCTION

RACE DRIVERS know tires. It is their business to know tires—it means life or death to them. These men know that a tire that holds all world's records on road and track must be a masterpiece of tire construction. They know it must have superior materials, must be scientifically designed, and must be made by master tire builders. That is why Firestone High Speed Tires are First Choice of race drivers and have been on the winning cars for 13 consecutive years in the 500-mile Indianapolis race—the most gruelling test for any tire.

Road speeds of today are the racing speeds of yesterday. Yet millions of motorists gamble with their lives by using inferior and thin, worn tires on their cars. Guard the safety of yourself and your family with the strongest, safest non-skid tires—made by master tire builders. Have your car completely equipped with a set of these Extra Value tires with the patented construction features of Gum-Dipping and Two Extra Gum-Dipped Cord Plies Under the Tread, at prices you may never be able to duplicate. Your dealer will give you a liberal allowance for your old tires. Remember—Your Brakes Can Stop Your Wheels But Your Tires Must Stop Your Car!

INCREASED TIRE MILEAGE with the New Firestone SEALTYE Leakproof TUBE

The inside of the tube is coated with a special compound which seals against air loss. Constant air pressure is maintained, which increases tire mileage and safety. The tube has a tapered rubber valve which seals the rim valve hole, keeping out moisture and dirt. The rubber valve base is an integral part of the valve stem, built and vulcanized into the tube.

MOTORISTS! Save money NOW! Firestone quality is higher than ever—prices are lower than ever. These tire "war" prices cannot last—equip your car at once and get these great values before prices go up!

There is no reduction in the quality of Firestone Tires. Tremendous savings are made possible by the fact that Firestone owns and controls every step in the building of Firestone Tires and distributes direct to dealers from factories and warehouses—a one-profit, low-expense system.

GREATEST TIRE VALUES EVER OFFERED

HERE ARE the lines of tires—each with the same "Firestone" branded on the sidewall—that excel in quality, yet are priced as low as other standard brands or special brand tires made without the manufacturer's name and guarantee and offered for sale by department stores, oil companies and mail-order catalog houses.

Announcing THE NEW Firestone SUPER OLDFIELD TYPE

Equal in quality to standard brand, first line tires. See this new Firestone Tire at your local dealer's store. Note the deep cut, thick, wide tread—the rugged dependability and the striking appearance. Compare its quality with other standard lines. Here's value unequalled at prices that afford real savings.

Passes To Be Given Children Obeying Safety Rules

BALL LEAGUE WILL AID IN SAFETY WORK

A new rule has been adopted in the National Night Ball league which is expected to do more to promote safety among school children in the district covered by the league than anything devised so far, it was learned today.

The plan, which was devised by George Peterkin, state highway patrolman in charge of safety work in the county and president of the league, will penalize children who violate safety rules by taking away from them the privilege of attending night ball games without charge.

The ruling covering passes has been incorporated in the new rule book which will be issued during the coming week. Under the new ruling, local police and schools may take over the supervision of issuing passes to those who they declare eligible to receive such privileges. Most teams have signified their intention of having "kid" sections at the games.

If any child willfully disobeys safety rules around the schools or in the streets of the community, he will be placed on the list of ineligible for that quarter. Passes will be reissued each quarter and a child may get a pass the next quarter by proper safety conduct.

Placing the matter in the hands of the police and school authorities is expected to give the authorities a real grip on the safety situation which they could not obtain in any other way.

School authorities and police have expressed pleasure over the plan, it was said, and it is expected to prove of aid in the National Safety Contest.

Following is the rule as it has been incorporated in the new book of rules:

"Each club is empowered to issue free passes to elementary school children, providing said children can present recommendations from school authorities and local police. These recommendations not to be given any children guilty of violating school, city or state safety rules or laws. New passes must be issued each round and good for that round only. Clubs may in their discretion allow local school authorities or police to issue passes directly.

"Children admitted on passes must be seated in a separate section under strict supervision of one or more adults appointed for that purpose. They shall keep order and take up any passes for disorderly conduct and remove such children from the park. The president is empowered to cancel this provision for admission of children on free passes for games limited or where the actions of the children have become offensive to adult patrons.

"It is the desire of this league that children be given the opportunity of enjoying good, clean sport under the proper supervision and at the same time promote safety in all communities by this effective method of control."

Invitations have been issued by the Orange County General hospital to the annual graduation exercises of the School of Nursing, to be held Thursday night, May 11 in the Women's clubhouse, Orange.

There will be 16 nurses to complete their training this year, and a special program under the direction of Dr. Harry E. Zaiser, superintendent of the hospital will be arranged in their honor. This will begin promptly at 8 o'clock, with the march played by Mrs. Julia Salisbury, to which the graduates will enter. Dr. Robert Burns McAulay, pastor of Orange Presbyterian church, will offer invocation after which Miss Lois Kathryn Shively, member of the graduating class, will sing a contralto solo, "Solovej's Lied" from Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite." Mrs. Salisbury, who is one of the nurses' staff at the hospital, will play her accompaniment.

There will be two addresses, one by Dr. McAulay and the second by Dr. Theron S. Johnston, of Santa Ana. The graduating class will repeat the Nightingale pledge after which each member will receive her diploma from Dr. Zaiser, and her graduate pin from Grace E. Lansing, R. N., superintendent of nurses.

This group of nurses has worked for diplomas under the class motto of "Through Trials to Triumph," choosing orchid and yellow as their colors and the sweet pea as their flower. They represent different California communities. From Orange county are Margaret B. Bondley, Santa Ana; Isabelle M. Esser, Midway City; Mary Norma Healey, Garden Grove; Lois Hershberger, Fullerton; Olga Gasina Kluge and Ruth Elizabeth Meyer, Anaheim; and Lucile Mackintosh, Costa Mesa.

SHOCK DAMAGED BUILDING TO BE REPLACED

Badly damaged in the earthquake, the old three story Richlieu hotel building, corner of Fourth and Ross streets is being demolished preparatory to construction of a new and modern building on the site.

The new building, according to Frank Avaz, owner of the property, will be a one story structure with three store rooms facing on Fourth and a fourth on Ross. It is expected that the new structure will be ready for occupancy within 60 days.

According to Avaz the corner store room already has been taken by the Givens-Cannon Pharmacy under a long term lease. Proprietors of the drug store are planning to install all new fixtures and equipment making the store one of the most modern drug stores in Santa Ana.

The Ross street store will be occupied by the Courtney Tire Shop. Negotiations are under way for the other two rooms, Avaz said, and will be completed by the time the building is ready for occupancy.

Avaz estimates that the new building will cost between $10,000 and $12,000 to complete.

The old Richlieu Hotel building, which is being torn down was one of the landmarks of the city having been constructed approximately 45 years ago by John Avaz, father of the present owner of this property.

Avaz, at the time of building the structure which is now being razed, also held a third interest in the Rossmore Hotel building which had been completed two years before the Richlieu was started. A short time after constructing the Richlieu Hotel block Avaz disposed of his Rossmore interests and devoted his time to operation of the building which included a hotel occupying the two top floors of the building.

The building was so badly damaged during the recent earthquake that repairing was not feasible and the decision reached to destroy the landmark replacing it with a more modern structure.

ABOLITION OF TAX EXEMPTION RECOMMENDED

The tax committee of the Orange County Coast association in session at Huntington Beach yesterday, recommended the abolition of all tax exemptions of every character. The committee's plan includes tax exempt bonds and exemptions for former soldiers. If adopted, it would mean that no church property would be exempt.

The action of the committee puts the coast association on record as favoring its action. Advocating drastic tax reductions the coast association selected the committee and voted that its recommendations were to be final if approved by the entire committee.

Two members of the committee were absent from the meeting but their endorsement was to be obtained later and copies of the recommendations were to be sent to the state officials at Sacramento and the county supervisors.

The members of the committee are N. E. West, Laguna Beach, chairman; T. B. Talbert and J. H. Macklin, Huntington Beach, Macklin acting as temporary secretary yesterday. E. J. Hughes, Seal Beach; Dan Acres, San Clemente; Roy Browning, Tustin; S. J. Bryant, Los Alamitos; W. W. Middleton, Costa Mesa; Frank Champion, Laguna Beach.

The tax bill offered as senate bill No. 86, by Senator N. J. Edwards of Orange, was endorsed. The bill proposes a cut in real estate taxes from 12 to 10 per cent, the committee was advised. The committee also gave its endorsement to a proposed change in the budget, hearing date to be not later than May 15.

The committee further recommended that real estate tax be equalized with relation to other taxable property. All matters pertaining to district budgets within the county such as schools and all special districts, according to the committee's recommendation must be submitted to the board of county supervisors for their approval or rejection or revision.

The two committee members absent from the meeting were W. W. Middleton of Costa Mesa, and Frank Champion of Laguna Beach.

CONCERT SERIES TO BE GIVEN DURING SUMMER

Santa Ana's symphony orchestra, which will give its first concert at the Santa Ana High school tonight, will give eight concerts in the Santa Ana Municipal Bowl during the summer months.

This arrangement was completed yesterday afternoon after Dr. M. W. Hollingsworth appeared before the council and asked permission to use the Bowl on Sunday nights, the concerts to be spaced two and three weeks apart.

There was some discussion on whether the churches of the city would complain about the concerts being held at the same time night church services were conducted, but the council was unanimous in granting permission for the use of the Bowl.

Dr. Hollingsworth explained that

BRIDLEPATH TO IRVINE PARK IS SUGGESTED

A plan whereby the Santiago creek bed, from the Santa Ana river to the Irvine park, may be utilized as a bridlepath, was discussed by the Santa Ana city council yesterday afternoon, without any definite action being taken in the matter.

The plan is being sponsored by the Kiwanis club and the Orange County Rodeo club.

The council agreed that that part of the creek bed in the city of Santa Ana could be made into a bridlepath through the use of Reconstruction Finance corporation money obtained from the estate in that could be designated as one of the projects on which local unemployed could be used.

There is some three miles of the creek bed inside the city limits. The county board of supervisors and the city of Orange also are to be contacted by the sponsors of the movement to determine if the portions of the proposed bridlepath running through the county and Orange could be handled in a similar manner.

Maps have been prepared and the work likely will be started here in time to use the May allotment of money for the unemployed, if it is approved.

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY HAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

The animal played tunes, happy when you have small scraps like this.

"If you will all have patience, I will have a fine parade march by. I promise you 'twill be a sight that you won't want to miss."

"All right," said Scouty. "Let's have peace. Our little scrap will quickly cease." He then shook hands with Duncy and the whole thing turned out fine.

The Midget Man cried, "Get all set for the big treat you're going to get. 'Twill take about a minute for my beasts to form in line."

He disappeared among some trees and Copy loudly cried, "Oh, please, don't lose much time. I'm all excited. Bring on your parade!"

It wasn't long until they heard the Midget Man shout out one word. "Twas 'March!' Then came the animals, and what a sight they made.

The leader was a monkey. He was just as clever as could be. He whirled a little stick around and tossed it way up high.

"Gee, see him catch it," Duncy cried. "He's done it every time he's tried." The Tinymites kept clapping as the funny beasts marched by.

SAYS FATHERS MUST CONTINUE AS SONS' PALS

PLACENTIA, April 25.—"Blocks and Chips" was the theme of an address the Rev. Frank M. Dowling presented Monday night at the close of a fathers' night and Educational week program at the Placentia Grammar school, given under auspices of the Parent-Teacher association.

He drew attention to the misfortune to both son and father when the father does not learn to play and to continue to play with his children. The great difficulty between fathers and sons is that fathers are indifferent, are suspicious and are dictatorial, instead of being pals, and confidential and comradely, he said, and suggested that if "fathers keep the confidence of their sons, they will keep their sons."

Dean Hanson, husband of the program chairman of P. T. A., presided. Proceeding the talk, a group of presentations were given by the three one-act plays and special musical numbers, both vocal and instrumental, between plays.

The play, "Joint Owners in Spain," a comedy was presented by the Misses Julia Fischer, Elmore Hayden, Ruth Henthorne and Gail George. A drama, "Op-Op-Me-Thumb," was given by the Misses Mercedes Kaufman, Ellen Berry, Marjorie Ensign, Lorene Shafer, Bernice Sparkes and Lorna Miller, and "Maker of Dreams," a melodrama, was performed by the Misses Peggy Tompkins, Mary Frances Holt, Muriel Strunk and Edna Walker. The proceeds will be used in defraying the expense of fitting up the new library quarters. Phillip Brooks, president of the Tustin chamber of commerce, was master of ceremonies, introducing the various numbers on the entertainment program.

A humorous skit, "Tustin Sewing Bee," written by Miss Mary Rosa Borum and Mrs. E. R. Byrne, was given, with the following taking part: Mr. and Mrs. J. Henry Pankey, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson, Mrs. J. W. Rice, Mrs. C. A. Vance, Mrs. Perry E. Lewis, Mrs. Fred Preble, Miss Marjory Rawlings, Mrs. Florence McCharles, Mrs. Hugh J. Plumb, Mrs. Dan D. Adams, Mrs. Will S. Leinberger, Mrs. Clarence A. Nelson, Mrs. John W. Sauer, Mrs. William Cook, Mrs. L. R. Stearns, Mrs. Harry Matthews and Mrs. C. E. Utt.

Short talks regarding the new library were made by B. F. Reswick and Mrs. Hazel Gowdy, librarian. Old fashioned pictures of Tustin were shown on the screen.

Musical numbers on the program included two numbers by a musical trio, composed of Miss Anna Mae Archer, "Hello, Ray Archer, piano, and Robert Forney, violin, two vocal solos by Mrs. Elizabeth Leland, with Miss Audrey Pieper at the piano; and a song, "On the Road to Mandalay," by the boys' quartet, consisting of Edgar Pankey, Bob Adams, Nelson Rogers and Willard Stearns, with Miss Alta Fisher as piano accompanist.

Refreshments of home made cookies, coffee and tea were served.

Members of the program committee were Mrs. Clarence A. Nelson, Mrs. J. D. Campbell, Mrs. A. F. Hibbert, William Armstrong and John W. Sauer.

LIFE INSURANCE A PROVED BOON

This past week has been "Financial Independence Through Life Insurance Week," designated by the National Association of Life Underwriters.

There has been no institution of modern times that has filled a greater need in our society than have the life insurance companies. They have grown in a remarkable way in the last 40 years, so that the total amount of insurance in force today in the United States equals not less than one-third of the total capital of the country. It amounts to $100,000,000,000. It has been built up in part, by adding to life insurance the theory of investment possibilities, and many have invested in life insurance because of the accrued value of the policy, enabling the insured to borrow when in need, as well as to have paid-up insurance for the balance.

There is no question during the past two or three years that this has been a tremendous boon to many borrowers. But as they have exercised this right, they have reduced, of course, and the insurance companies, just like banks, have found themselves tied up with their investments with a decreasing valuation upon their security. No financial institution has been as conservatively run as the life insurance companies. But even they cannot do the impossible.

The consequence has been that protection has been afforded them as it has the banks, and this protection against withdrawals, while possibly on behalf of the weaker companies, applies to all. There is no question but what if the insurance companies had confined themselves to their original purpose, that of life insurance, they would have had no difficulty in meeting all demands without protective legislation. It is very probable that with the increased valuation on securities, and with rising values, and certainly with the slightest degree of inflation, most of the companies will be in prime condition.

But we hope the insurance companies will cease to attempt to carry on in the future as investment or loaning propositions. This does not at all go to the point of the value and need of life insurance. The foundations of its financing are thoroughly sound.

The need, as met by life insurance, which is created by the losing of the breadwinner of the home, has been of untold value to millions of families, to widows, to the children who have received an education, and to many who stand as thoroughly trained, able leaders of society today. The conditions through which we have passed have emphasized many things, and all of us should use greater discretion in whatever we do with our money hereafter. Life insurance has proved a worthy trustee.

BRAIN FOR THE NEEDY

Dr. George W. Crile, director of the Cleveland Clinic, told the fourth annual conference on interpretations of physical education at New York University recently that mind is entirely a product of electricity, manufactured in the brain by a power system of generation and distribution, consisting of four quadrillion individual dynamos and a distribution system vastly greater than all the lines of communication now in existence. Investigations made by himself and his assistants have shown that the brain emits short-wave and infra-red radiations which cause the ejection of electrons from the brain protoplasm and these electrons set up the electric current responsible for all our thinking and reasoning processes.

The adrenal gland, Dr. Crile says, is the power station for the brain and its properties can be replenished from the gland of a sheep when they give out. It would seem that this fact having been established, the brain is now on a mechanical basis and that along with all the wonders science has done for us will soon be placed the relief of not having to "suffer fools gladly." Stupidity will be placed with some other disagreeable personal matters such as bad teeth which can be remedied if the individual has the proper regard for the impression he makes on his associates.

But there is a catch in the matter, yet. We all know that there are many people with good brains who do not know how to use them. Dr. Crile in his talk said that a teacher must be regarded as an electro-chemical engineer whose assignment is the construction of an infinitely delicate and complicated mechanism that will govern the action and the behavior of the pupil according to the requirements of civilized man. In other words it may become an easy matter to have enough brain but one will still not pass for an intelligent human being unless one learns how to use and control the brain.

DEFYING ORGANIZED MINORITIES

It has always been dangerous for one seeking election to office to fly in the face of organized minorities. That is the reason why so many laws on our books fail to rally public sentiment behind them.

It is refreshing, therefore, to find a public official who can drive through these organized minorities, and lead the country in the way it should go. According to the Washington correspondent of the New York World-Telegram, President Roosevelt has defied, more than any of the presidents of the last twelve years, the organized minorities who have succeeded in imposing their power over the majority.

This requires political courage. An official who acts thus takes his political life in his hands. But evidently President Roosevelt is not thinking of his political life. He seems to be determined to carry out the principles which he announced during his campaign. He has nearly four years ahead of him. And it may be that he feels that by that time all those of the organized minorities will have forgotten about these measures now taken. That is the lower view of the matter. But those who are nearest Mr. Roosevelt, and that includes the men of the press with hardly an exception, maintain that he never thinks of his political future these days. He feels that he has a duty to his country to perform, and he is going to perform it to the best of his ability. If the people approve, he will be pleased. If they do not, he still has the consciousness that he honestly tried to serve the whole people. And that is by no means a small satisfaction.

THE SHOCKING GENERAL DAWES BECOMES DISAGREEABLE

General Charles Dawes was rather amusing over here when he cursed at a Senate hearing, "Hell 'n Maria" Dawes was tolerable to a nation, so sickened by the exposures of the Ohio gang activities that it was ripe for a laugh. As Ambassador to England, he was a "bull in a China shop" over there, and an embarrassment at home. Stories of his practical jokes were too painful to dwell upon.

But when he curses a band of school teachers, who have gone without their pay for months, he himself becomes a curse. Those people who regard as "red radical" people who hold a demonstration, and protest when they are without pay or without jobs, are probably not stirred by the news of the event in Chicago. People all over the land have been impatient with the forbearance of the school teachers, as they have gone without their pay in Chicago, which has been despoiled by racketeers and thieves, Capone, Thompson, and Insull. Caught between the corruption in Chicago and their duty to the children who, except for the sacrifice of the teachers, would be without schooling, the teachers have stood much, too much.

It ill becomes anyone to be impatient and discourteous with them, much less General Dawes. If he were a more intelligent man he would have learned to bear heckling with good grace, for in England people who have any aspirations politically must learn to bear it, and if the occasion warrants, enjoy it.

'In Politics'

San Diego Union

It is not true that the schools ought to be put beyond the reach of "political influence." It is not true that the schools ought to be isolated from the American scheme and rendered unresponsive to the will of the people.

What is true—and every observance of Public Schools week ought to emphasize it—is that our political interference with the schools ought to serve education, not hamper it.

Our schools are not perfect agents of the purposes they are maintained to serve, and there are points where school conditions demand interference. The people of this community ought to interfere, by the lawful means placed at their command, whenever any faction in or out of the schools threatens the honest objectives of education. They ought to interfere whenever schools and the school system are subverted to serve anything other than the education of their children.

When schools are built for civic display, interference is right and proper. When schools are built to fatten a jerrybuilder's bankroll or to supply a politician's rake off, the people ought to interfere. When the school system is corrupted to maintain payrolls for the jobholders, interference is warranted. And when the school system is assaulted with dishonest slogans, attacked by petty job-seekers, assailed for selfish ends by an organized minority, the people should step in.

The schools belong to the people. It is the people's job to see that the schools are efficiently maintained, serving their honest purpose—and "political interference" is the people's weapon for defending that trust.

The schools are in politics—must be and should be. The people of this republic are in politics, too.

Occasionally the Congressional Record lives up to its reputation for unconscious humor. That the lawmakers in Washington have been busy this session is realized. They have also been effective and often, on their own admission, they have answered the appeal of the nation for action by giving their "eye" votes to measures which they had had no occasion to read or study.

In the hearing before the Senate committee on agriculture and forestry, according to the Record, this exchange took place:

"Senator Thomas (of Oklahoma)—Did you submit this plan to the House?"

"Representative Shoemaker (of Minnesota)—No, Senator; we did not get a chance to offer any changes at all on this bill while it was in the House."

"Mr. Thomas—Then what do you think of this bill?"

"Mr. Shoemaker—I consider it a monstrosity."

"Senator Capper (of Kansas)—Did you vote against it in the House?"

"Mr. Shoemaker—Oh, no, I voted for it. I had to vote for something."

There is frankness here, whether or not there are statecraft and logic.

Hotfoot As A Moron

San Francisco Chronicle

A professor in Baltimore says that while the boy in Mrs. Hemans' poem "Casabianca" may have been a model of filial obedience, he was a moron just the same. A similar discovery was noted some years ago by Irvin S. Cobb. The boy refused to budge because his father had told him to stay there, so he "stood on the burning deck whence all but him had fled." Mr. Cobb, in a critical review of school book poetry, ventured the opinion that a boy who had no better sense than to stand on a burning deck with his feet getting hotter and hotter when there was plenty of cool water to hop into, was no intellectual loss to the world when the ship at last went down.

Living Again

San Francisco Chronicle

Clarence Darrow thinks one ordinary lifetime is enough for a man. He would not, he says, care to live another. Yet Joseph Choate, when asked a similar question, found a reason for living again, and also an occasion for the finest compliment a man can pay to his wife.

"Oh, Mr. Choate," gushed a young thing, "what would you like to be if you could come back to earth again after death?"

"Mrs. Choate's second husband," was the instantaneous reply.

Before He Gets Too Hungry

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

WHAT'S TO DO ABOUT IT?

In the days when our ancestors had to step out
At the earliest crack of the dawn
To harvest the oats
And look after the shoats

Till the last streak of sunlight was gone,
As well as to garner the wheat and the rye,
To hoe the potatoes and beans,
They'd have shouted "Hurray!"

Had they known that some day
Such work would be done by machines.

The age of invention at last came along;
The tractor was hitched to the plough,
And it needed scant toil
To extract from the soil

The food for the horse and the cow.
The farmer no longer need rise from his bed
With the earliest gleam of the sun.
With a modern machine

From the earth he could glean
Ten times what his granddaddy had done.

Today he has freedom and leisure and ease,
And abundance of time for repose,
But he finds but small charm
In conducting his farm.

For no one will buy what he grows.
Some way must be found to afford him relief—
Both farmers and statesmen allow—
To lighten his load.

And make easy his road,
But nobody seems to know how.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

HELPING THE BUDGET MAKERS

Yesterday I said that I do not consider it treason to the budget makers to emphasize the grave dangers confronting education and the other social enterprises of government in the present economic crisis.

Today let me say in more detail why I see no inconsistency in the pleas I have made for imperative economy and the pleas I have made for such indispensable public service as education.

The great army of laymen who are serving on the governing boards of schools, colleges, universities, libraries, hospitals, and kindred social institutions, on city councils, in state legislatures, and in Congress are facing almost insurmountable difficulties in making ends meet.

The Banquo's ghost of insufficient public income persistently haunts their consideration of imperative public expenditures.

These laymen, charged with the guardianship of basic public services, must function in an unpropitiously distracting atmosphere. A thousand and one competing demands beat about their desks. They are caught in the cross-fire of irrational demands for increasing public expenditures and equally irrational demands for decreasing public expenditures. They are told, in one breath, that the buying power of the period must be increased, and in the next breath, that the buying power of government must be decreased.

If, in this distracting atmosphere, they are to balance public budgets without unbalancing the life of community, state and nation, they need all the help that can come from responsible and unhampered discussion of those forces and institutions upon the full and effective functioning of which the physical health, intellectual discipline, and spiritual stability of the future depend.

To prosecute such discussion, in the midst of the direct fiscal difficulties that have confronted government in this generation, is not treason to the budget makers but cooperation with them. Indeed, the highest cooperation we can give to the men and women charged with the appropriation of public funds is to hold so high that all may see the banner of those values that lie beyond economics, the values we can least afford to lose, the values, without which prosperity will prove a poison in the nation's vitals.

For what shall it profit a people to save its credit if it lose its civilization?

"DON'T LOOK"

Watching eyes distress children. Eyes can carry a blight in their gaze, or a blessing. That depends upon who the owner intends. Eyes do not act under their own direction. There is a thought behind every glance, maybe a purpose. The eyes obey the will and convey the thought of the mind without ever a wink of doubt. That is why some children are afraid of some people's eyes.

I know a teacher who strikes fear to the hearts of the children in her classes by fixing her glance, cold, steady, cruel, upon them the moment they enter her room. All glances fade out of their faces. Their movements are heavy with dread. Their voices are dull and hushed. "They're not going to give me any trouble," says she triumphantly. "One look from me and they know who is boss."

Poor children, and poorer teacher. Eyes were never meant for that. Eyes were intended to carry affection and understanding and comfort in their glance. The teacher or parents who uses them to subdue children, to carry fear to their hearts, is making a mistake that is going to cost them dearly in terms of affection later on. Nobody can live without love and that sort of thing kills love. Children turn from such eyes to others in which there is the light of understanding.

But that is not what I want to bring out in this article. I want to say a word for the timid little child who is trying to do something for the first time. Maybe he is trying to feed himself. Or perhaps he is learning to write and has to make a big A on his paper for the teacher to see. "Don't look," he pleads. "I'll call you when I am ready." You shield your eyes and he hurries to get the job finished. He looks up anxiously now and then to see if you are still not looking. He feels safe if your eyes are not upon him. When he says, "Now," and shows you the clean plate or the finished letter, you must be joyfully surprised and delighted beyond measure. Then he is happy. He will try again and again, and by and by, when success is certain, he will forget to tell you not to look. He will ask you to watch him. Now he wants applause for his effort and skill and achievement. Before that he was begging for mercy in his infirmity and weakness.

When you tell a child to do something take for granted that he is going to do it all right. Take your eyes off him. He is restless under their watchful gaze. He is afraid that you are going to say, "Be careful. You're cutting too close to the line." Don't put so much on. "That isn't the way. Let me show you." "I thought you could do something. You're butting in. Give that to me!"

Give him the job. Tell him what to do and how to do it. Say all you have to say while he is giving you his attention and then look away while he goes to work. How would you like to have a critical person standing over you while you tried to do your best on a job that was new to you? How would you like to have a running fire of comment while you struggled with a difficult task? It wouldn't do you much good to know that your critic was expert at the job while you were a mere blunderer, would it? Please, remember not to look, not to watch like a cat after a mouse. Children can't stand it.

No more can I. Can you?
